Leading scholars examine the origins and current trends of Russian involvement in the Middle East, as well as implications for U.S. strategy in the region.
ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Anna Borshchevskaya
Anna Borshchevskaya is a senior fellow at The Washington Institute, focusing on Russia’s policy toward the Middle East.

Lester Grau
Lester Grau is the research director for the Foreign Military Studies Office at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Michael McFaul
Michael McFaul is director of the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies at Stanford University and a former U.S. ambassador to Russia.
Middle East PolicyCast

Russia in the Middle East
with Anna Borschevskaya
Podcast: Russia's War in Syria

A Military and Political Assessment of the Gaza Conflict with Grant Rumley & Neri Zilber

RECOMMENDED

BRIEF ANALYSIS

Abu Fadak Tries to Split the Shrine Units
Jan 11, 2022
Hamdi Malik

Will the Ukraine Standoff Affect the Iran Nuclear Talks?
Jan 11, 2022
Anna Borschevskaya