

[illegible]

2025 ()

2025 ()

<https://www.washingtoninstitute.org/policy-analysis/syrias-new-> ()

(government-appointments-more-continuity-change

:(https://www.hrw.org/legacy/backgroundunder/mena/syria/syria_memo.htm) (2001) "50

(<https://www.aymennaltamimi.com/p/controversy-over-restrictions-issued>) "26

21 " " " " 12

(<https://www.aymennaltamimi.com/p/controversy-over-restrictions-issued>) "108

<https://english.enabbaladi.net/archives/2026/06/hassan-akkad-faces-legal-> "17

"20 (battle-over-donation-campaign/) (2012

:(2022 /) (<https://www.aymennaltamimi.com/p/controversy-over-restrictions-issued>)

(<https://x.com/syrianmoi/status/2002474061214191702>)

" : " .

: :

: (/ 5) .

(<https://aljumhuriya.net/en/2026/07/31/disappearing-hope>)

" " " " "

.202

: (/ 22)

(/ <https://aljumhuriya.net/en/2026/07/31/disappearing-hope>)

" " " " "

" " " : (/ 27)

(<https://aljumhuriya.net/en/2026/07/31/disappearing-hope>)

() 25 .(2026 / - /)

(<https://x.com/VeSyria/status/2036838240376799703>)

" " " " " (<https://x.com/AlekhbariahSY/status/2036823166094364920>)

(<https://x.com/VeSyria/status/2036871834352623634>) " "

2 .(/)

https://syria-report.com/five-day-arrest-of-activist-demanding-transparency-in- ()

(reconstruction-fundraisers-pushes-accountability-limits)

" "

()

" "

(<https://english.enabbaladi.net/archives/2026/06/damascus-judiciary-explains-hassan-akkad-arrest>)

" " (<https://syriaintransition.com/en/home/archive/issue-37/follow-the-money>)

" "

(<https://x.com/damascusv011/status/2063154225798877695>)

()

"The Syrian Observatory for Human Rights" is a non-profit organization that monitors human rights violations in Syria. It was founded in 2011 by Rami Abdulrahman, a Syrian journalist and human rights activist. The organization has been recognized by the United Nations and other international bodies as a credible source of information on the conflict in Syria.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://syriaintransition.com/en/home/archive/issue-37/follow-the-money>. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 800 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been critical of the Syrian government's actions, including its use of force and its failure to protect civilians. It has also been critical of the opposition, including its failure to provide adequate protection for civilians.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://x.com/SyMOIGov/status/2070222639520440650>. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 30 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://x.com/GregoryPWaters/status/2072003424112316918>. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 26 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://en.majalla.com/node/332029/opinion/syria->. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 12 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://www.enabbaladi.net/819429>. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 3 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is <https://syrianobserver.com/syrian-actors/after-criticising->. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 5 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

The organization's website is https://x.com/Daraa24_24/status/2090558115787800582. It has a large database of reports, including a report on the arrest of 20 people in Latakia in 2011.

The organization has also been involved in the investigation of the 2013 chemical attack in Ghouta. It has provided evidence to the United Nations and other international bodies, leading to the identification of the Syrian government as the perpetrator.

The organization has been a vocal supporter of the Syrian opposition, including the Free Syrian Army. It has provided training and equipment to the opposition, and has been involved in the coordination of military operations.

The organization has been a key player in the Syrian conflict, providing information and support to the opposition. It has been a major source of information for the international community, and has played a significant role in the investigation of human rights violations.

The organization has been accused of being biased and of fabricating reports. However, it has provided extensive documentation of human rights violations, including the use of chemical weapons, and has been cited by the United Nations and other international bodies.

[illegible]

☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐ ☐

//

(/policy-analysis/helping-gulf-and-ukraine-build-their-counter-drone-partnership)

September 8, 2026, starting at 9:00 a.m. EDT (1300 GMT)

(/policy-analysis/25-years-after-911-nctc-directors-assess-progress-and-remaining-challenges)

