

New IAEA Reports on Iran and Syria

Aug 28, 2013

On August 28, 2013, the International Atomic Energy Agency released its latest reports on Iran and Syria. The Iran report assesses the status of the regime's nuclear activities and the agency's efforts to implement a safeguards agreement. The Syria report discusses the alleged nuclear site at Dair Alzour, destroyed by an Israeli strike in 2007. To read the full text of each report, download the two PDFs. ❖
